

ABC Learning Design

Sprint design your courses in just 90 minutes

ABC Learning Design is an effective and engaging hands-on workshop that enables teaching teams to discuss assessment, strategic alignment and other aspects of the curriculum. It has been trialled with great success at universities across the world.

In just 90 minutes, teams work together in a game format to outline a sequence of online and offline learning activities that form a visual storyboard. Assessment and feedback opportunities are identified and activities are aligned to learning outcomes and local education strategies. ABC-LD is useful for course reviews, new courses or those changing to an online or more blended format.

More information (including links to the workshop materials and short videos) is available at www.inclusiveweb.net/abc

Since the approach was developed in 2014, Jessica Gramp has worked alongside its creators, Nataša Perović and Clive Young from UCL, to offer ABC Learning Design workshops for academic developers, learning designers and academics. Contact Jessica to discuss running ABC-LD workshops and train the trainer sessions at your institution.